KIWANIS CLUB ENTERTAINS WAR VETERANS

Rev. Canon Carruthers Delivered Inspiring Address on "The Flag"

It was only through the notices announcing the nature of the meeting being late that the usual banquet room of the Kiwanis was able to accommodate the large attendance on Tuesday evening.

The short notice hardly gave time for some of the Kiwanians to invite a guest, otherwise every veteran in the district would have been there. As it was over twenty-four veterans were entertained, whom, with the forty odd members of the Kiwanis club formed a goodly company.

The evening was given over to the Kiwanis club to celebrate Thanksgiving and Armistice Day, and Tuesday evening will go down in local annals as one of the greatest nights for hearty and spontaneous fellowship in the history of the club. Kiwanian Jack Hay, after grace had been said, asked for one moment's silence for the comrades who had fallen in the great war, and as the song sounded again each member and guest dovelighted himself in at the festive board, as Kiwanian Ross said, instead of a square meal it was a squeezed one. Between the courses the songs included "Pack up your Troubles," "It's a long way to Tipperary," "The Long, Long Trail," and other favorites.

The attendance prize was confined to the visitors, and Stewart Campbell, the recipient, was given the condition attached to the prize, that it was to be dispensed among the guests before leaving. Had the chairman of the publicity committee only waited for this function, which was a warmer and lighter account he could have given, perhaps!

Veteran J. G. Griffiths contributed a good story, while Messrs. Grant, Martin, Wells, Jacobs, McDiarmid and several others contributed group songs which were sung with great gusto. Veteran McDonald read a few extracts from letters of soldiers' wives sent to pay headquarters during the war, asking increased allowances for dependents, giving the most extraordinary cases for such requests, the reading of which simply made the gathering roar with laughter. Veteran T. C. Rubra sang the old favorite "Tommy Atkins" an old song the writer remembers hearing for the first time during the days of Kitchener's march to the relief of Gordon at Khartoum.

Kiwanian P. A. Miquelon delighted the gathering with "The Marseillaise" sung in French.

On the arrival of the Edmonton train the Rev. Canon Carruthers, the speaker of the evening, entered the room. By his tall, distinguished figure, he impressed everyone as an ideal captain, of the expeditionary force who had sailed overseas. A veteran himself, he lost no time after the chairman's introduction, in launching forth on one of the most inspiring and impressive addresses it could be one's privilege to hear.

He chose as his subject "The Flag," mentioning that we are known by our colors in the same way that the scientist can only tell the presence of elements in the spectrum by their color, the rarer metals and composition of the sun being only found by their colors in the spectrum, so was it in this white race. We were composed of the three colors, red, white and blue, the same as our flag. Our blood was red, our veins blue and our skin and bones white. There would always be war, he said. It would take millions of years before the peoples of the world could come to such a state of perfection that all would live in peace. Life itself was a war, a struggle all the time with conditions. Stagnation was a state of existence approaching the grave. He was sure good would come out of the great catastrophe of the late war, but we were yet too near the great evil to realize it. The League of Nations was a great step and would undoubtedly retard war.

His description of how Sir Cecil Rhodes, that great empire builder, rode out at night with a single companion to interview the Boer war chiefs, and how they laid down their spears at his feet when he told them of what the British empire could do for them, and secured a peace that formed a bond of nations. Like Sir

LIBERALS PAY TRIBUTE TO HON. CHAS. STEWART

Edmonton, Nov. 6.—More than 400 citizens joined last night in a complimentary banquet to Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior and member for West Edmonton, the event being one of the most successful of its kind in the history of the city. The main dining room of the Macdonald hotel was crowded to capacity and a large number were provided for in an overflow room.

The speakers of the evening were Mayor C. A. Blatchford, M.P., of East Edmonton; Joseph T. Shaw, provincial Liberal leader, and Hon. Mr. Stewart. William Reid, president of the Edmonton Liberal association, was chairman. Capt. Shaw, in replying to the toast to the Liberal party, gave an inspiring and lofty outline of the aims and aspirations of the Liberal party, while Hon. Mr. Stewart, in an address on "Canada," stirred the big audience with an eloquent review of the possibilities of the Dominion. He made a reference to the prospect of Canada growing into one of the great nations of the world.

Seated at the main table were Liberal senators from Alberta, Liberal members of the legislature, and Liberal candidates in the last Dominion election. Prominent Liberals were present from Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, Calgary, Peace River and Grande Prairie, and from many of the other principal centres of the province.

CIVIL SITTINGS OF SUPREME COURT

The regular half-yearly sittings of the supreme civil court were held here last week. His Lordship, Mr. Justice Walsh, presided.

The first case was Lingrol vs. the Municipal District of St. Louis, and took up two and a half days. At the conclusion of the case, His Lordship rendered judgment. The facts are, that on the 30th of November last, while Mr. Lingrol, the plaintiff, who is a farmer in the district of Hughenden, was driving six horses, consisting of three teams of two horses each, with 120 bushels of wheat in a wagon box four feet high, from his farm into Hughenden, the wagon skidded on a narrow piece of road and turned over. Mr. Lingrol was thrown off the top of the load and hit on his head on the hard ground, breaking several bones in both feet, with the result that he received more or less permanent injuries. He sued the municipal district for special damages of about $500.00. The plaintiff alleged that the cause of his accident was that the road was too narrow, being a fill across a slough at the point where the accident happened, and only ten feet wide, and that the surface of the road had too high a crown.

Alexander Knox appeared for the plaintiff, and C. H. Russell for the defendant.

O'Donnell Estate vs. Bowes.—This case was adjourned to be finished at Edmonton at a later date.

Petsch vs. Petsch.—Action for annulment of marriage. Adjourned to obtain further evidence.

Christmann vs. Christmann.—Action for divorce.

Cecil Rhodes, if you want to make the life effective you must have a high and noble aim. He dwelt upon the political, economic and religious liberty our fathers had fought for in the time of Cromwell and had handed down to us to preserve. Our old fathers of old had built well. It was up to the white in our time to maintain. He would like to see these western plains peopled with races from all lands. There was room for all, and some coming from oppressed lands, like Russia, would follow our lead and adopt our principles. If we kept to the white in our flag and the white that was in us. The blue in the flag and in ourselves represented loyalty. Loyalty to king, country and self, and like Philip Carr we could be loyal to Him who was Judge of all the earth.

In closing the chairman expressed the thanks of the club and of his present to Canon Carruthers for his inspiring address after which the proceedings closing by the singing of "God Save the King."

RESOLUTIONS TO BE PRESENTED BY M. D. BIGSTONE

Council Decides to Bring Questions Before Annual Convention

A meeting of the council of the Municipal District of Bigstone was held at Lone Ridge hall on November 3rd, with Couns. Hanson, Ratray, Olsen, Krause, Arnold and Burleigh present. Minutes of a former meeting were read and adopted on motion of Coun. Burleigh.

It was moved by Coun. Arnold that Coun. Hanson and Krause be appointed delegates to the annual convention of Municipal Districts. It was moved by Coun. Hanson that in the event of either delegate being unable to attend, the secretary act as substitute.

It was moved by Coun. Arnold that the secretary be instructed to forward the following resolution for consideration at the convention: "Resolved, That the Municipal District wishes to bring before the convention for discussion the necessity of some system being evolved whereby a frontage tax be charged against all land with a view to lowering the present cost of telephones to users."

It was moved by Coun. Hanson that the following resolution be forwarded to the convention for consideration: "Resolved, that where certain Municipalities by their location have to bear the brunt of extra traffic on their market roads in order to give access to railroads to adjoining municipalities, the government should give a special grant for the upkeep of said market roads."

In response to a letter from A. Bellico, the secretary was instructed to write saying that the municipality pays Mr. Peters a monthly amount for his support.

It was moved by Coun. Krause that the old roadway through the north half of 9-46-25-4 be closed as it is no longer needed.

After bills and paychecks had been passed on motion of Coun. Krause, the meeting adjourned.

AUTO ACCIDENTS

What might have been a very serious accident happened to J. F. Richards and his family on Sunday as he was leisurely driving along Thuma street. The car skidded into the ditch and turned over, all the occupants being more or less injured. Mrs. Phillis received several broken bones, which required nine stitches. It was very fortunate that the accident was not more serious.

Another accident happened Thanksgiving morning as Messrs. H. B. Stewart, Hindson, Rusty Murray and Geo. Graham were driving south of the city. The auto skidded into the ditch and turned completely over. Luckily none of the occupants were injured.

IMMANUEL CHURCH HARVEST FESTIVAL

On Thursday last the Rev. Canon Pierce Goulding delivered an eloquent and helpful sermon at Immanuel church on "Optimism." The speaker contended that whilst humility and self-criticism were helpful and necessary, this should not lead to a defeatist pessimism, but optimism should be our dominant note in the church, in the state and in the parish.

Canon Pierce Goulding and the Vicar were entertained at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Wright, and after the service the Vicar entertained the Canon and six of the men of the congregation at bridge in his rooms.

The harvest thanksgiving was continued on Sunday evening when the Vicar preached on the four possibilities of a grain of wheat, namely, to throw it away, to eat it, to preserve it and to put it into the ground and let it die and grow again.

The reverend gentleman proceeded to apply this to human life and having pointed out the tragedy of a wasted life, the brevity of the pleasure of a life consumed by transient occupations, and the decreasing value of a life which is perpetually preserved, he pointed out that the only way to really live was to sacrifice life. The services were fairly well attended, but it is hoped they will be still better attended next year.

PRIZE WINNERS AT SASKATOON

W. J. Pickard's exhibit of two Hampshire ewes at the Saskatoon winter fair took first and second prizes and championships; while at the Regina fair the ewe won first prize. The first prize winner at the Regina fair was a daughter of Mr. Pickard's second prize ewe in the same class—the daughter being an annual Mr. Pickard sold last year.

"LIGHTHOUSE NAN" AT ANGUS THEATRE TUESDAY EVENING

The comedy drama, "Lighthouse Nan," in three acts is to be presented in the Angus Theatre on Tuesday evening of next week by local talent. This will be only one of the big events of the season, and should the theatre will be crowded to capacity. The following is a synopsis of the play:

The play opens in a rough lighthouse on the Carolina coast. Ned Blake, from the city, is spending his vacation there and has been captivated by the cheerfulness and heartless simplicity of a young girl, Nan, supposed to be the granddaughter of Ichabod Buzzer, the lighthouse keeper. Ned Blake has taught her to read and succeeds in winning her heart. A party of Ned's friends come to visit him, among them John Blaw, whose baby girl had been abducted many years before by Ichabod Buzzer, the non-law of Ichabod Buzzer. Jim's wife, Liza Buzzer, returns the baby to Blaw after it had been returned to the lighthouse, but substitutes her own child and Lighthouse Nan proves to be John Blaw's daughter.

John Blaw meets Hortense Blaw, really his own daughter, and tells her the secret of her birth. She tries to obtain the proofs. He attempts to establish these papers at night but is frustrated by Nan. John Blaw takes a fancy to Nan and offers to send her away to school. The last act reveals the library in John Blaw's home. It is Christmas Day and Nan is coming home for a vacation. Ned, still in love with Nan, becomes suspicious of Hortense, who shows an inexplicable interest in John Blaw, her real father, and Ned, suspecting the truth, sends for Ichabod and Moll Buzzer in an effort to clear up the mystery of his birth.

Meanwhile, Hortense has secretly married and English baronet, and when the truth is known that she is a child of Indian Jim and Liza Buzzer, John Blaw kindly conceals the fact from her husband and they depart for the old world. Blaw tells the world that Nan is his adopted daughter and her name and the play ends happily with "Hortense Blaw and peace on earth, good will to men."

The cast is composed of the following well known artists:

Hon. John Blaw, president of the Seacoast Banking Co.—F. B. Watson. Ned Blake, his private secretary—R. Chandler. Ichabod Buzzer, the keeper of the lighthouse—E. Barnett. Sir Arthur Choke, a British baronet—Rev. D. D. MacQueen. John Blaw, a bad man—C. B. McDermid. Nan, a little rascally—Mrs. C. D. Emma. Moll Buzzer, the gentle antelope—Mrs. W. N. Peden. Hon. Sarah Choke-Choke, Arthur's sister—Miss E. Redden. Hortense Blaw, a city belle—Mrs. J. Dickson. The Wetskiwin Concert Orchestra will assist by rendering a number of selections.

BIG INCREASE IN POPULATION OF WETASKIWIN DIST.

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—The disappointing following publication of the first figures of the three prairie provinces will no doubt be increased with the details of the remaining figures handed out by the bureau of statistics. There are several decreases. Few of the increases justify normal expectations in a growing section of a young country. The figures for the electoral districts in Alberta are:

|                | 1926   | 1921   |
|----------------|--------|--------|
| Acadia         | 33,190 | 29,574 |
| Edmonton, East | 39,758 | 36,363 |
| Edmonton, West | 43,310 | 38,748 |
| Lethbridge     | 49,309 | 38,079 |
| Peace River    | 42,670 | 39,727 |
| Wetaskiwin     | 28,890 | 24,785 |

CITY POPULATIONS

Some of the city populations give Edmonton 64,740 for 1926 as compared with 58,821 in 1921. Calgary's population is 64,905, which is 146 more than Edmonton. Wetskiwin is credited with 1,884, while in 1921 the figures were given as 2,061.

Today's is the third report. There are still two or three Saskatchewan ridings not completed. The final figures will be out in a short time. The increase in the whole will be a good one, but not as great as progress between the Great Lakes and the Rockies.

LARGE LOAD OF WHEAT

The largest load of wheat hauled to a local elevator this season by two horses was brought in last week when Reuben Hendrickson hauled 140 bushels and delivered it to the Alberta Pacific Grain Company. The distance from Mr. Hendrickson's farm to the elevator is three and one-half miles. Will this record stand for the year?

HOSPITAL BAZAAR AND SUPPER ON THURSDAY

Famous Chicken Dinner to be Served and Ladies' Work Sold

The fourth annual bazaar in aid of the Wetskiwin hospital will take place on Thursday of next week, Nov. 18th, at the Elks' hall. It will be officially opened to the public at two o'clock by Dr. N. A. Johnson, chairman of the hospital board and Mayor Montgomery.

Attractive fancy work, plain sewing and dolls will be presided over by Mrs. Fraser, Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Geo. James. A post office under the management of Mrs. Gilmour and Mrs. J. C. D. Williamson, will deliver attractive parcels to anyone calling. For the moderate sum of 25 cents, Mrs. Cooke, Mrs. H. C. R. Walker and Mrs. Broadbent will look after and supply the wants of all anglers from a well stocked fish pond.

Right as you enter, Mrs. J. H. Walker and Mrs. Gibson will be ready to offer you your sweet tooth and tickle your palate with all sorts of goodies from the kitchens of our city's best cooks. Lastly, Mrs. Burkholder and a score of busy assistants will crown the day's efforts with one of the chicken dinners for which the hospital aid society is becoming famous.

A jolly dance will bring the evening to a close.

TUXIS NOMINATE CANDIDATE

The Argonaut Tuxis Square of Wetskiwin on Tuesday evening nominated Walter Orr as their candidate to represent this constituency in the Boys' Parliament. The campaign committee consisted of Victor Chant, Herman Thomas, Morgan French and Robert Thomas. The election will be held from November 23 to 29. The parliament will meet in the legislative buildings in Edmonton on December 28, 29 and 30. We wish Walter success in the campaign.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

A memorial service under the auspices of the I.O.O.F. was held in the Angus Theatre on Sunday afternoon last. The theatre was well filled, and the children of the several Sunday schools attended on names. Capt. Geoffrey Baker was the chairman, and Mr. C. H. Boyer sang "In Plunder Fields," a quartette was rendered by Messrs. MacEachern, Murray, Cooper and Thompson; and a massed choir sang an original "The Boy of the Old Brigade." Rev. Dr. MacQueen of Old Brigade. The Rev. Canon Carruthers gave the address, in the absence of Rev. Canon Carruthers, who was unable to be present.

REGULAR MEETING M. D. MONTGOMERY

The regular meeting of the council of the Municipal District of Montgomery No. 453 was held in the council office on Saturday last, with all the councillors present.

The minutes of last meeting were read and adopted on the motion of Coun. Hayward.

The secretary was instructed to answer a letter from the department of the interior, at Calgary, giving the information asked for.

W. F. Elkerman wrote forwarding a report on the road at Sect. 25-26, 25-27, 25-28. The secretary was instructed to write and inform him that the council at present has been unable to come to terms with the owners of the land but that further effort will be made.

The matter of Mrs. Nell's allowance was left to the Inspector.

It was moved by Coun. Jevon that the secretary and Coun. Bussard be appointed delegates to the Alberta Rural Municipalities convention to be held in Calgary November 24, 25 and 26, and that the same allowance be paid as in previous years to defray the cost.

It was moved by Reeve Jevon that an advertisement be put in the local newspaper calling for tenders for the hauling of gravel, tenders to state the price per yard per mile, and to be in the hands of the secretary not later than November 30, the lowest or any tender not necessarily to be accepted.

After the bills and paychecks had been passed for payment, the meeting adjourned.

HOSPITAL BAZAAR IS IN NEED OF POULTRY

Since it will be impossible to personally canvass everyone for poultry to be donated to the hospital bazaar, the committee in charge requests that anyone wishing to donate poultry for this supper leave same with the Wetskiwin Produce Company on Saturday, November 13, or not later than Tuesday, November 16.

WEDDINGS

JEFFERSON—BUNKER

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Manse, Wetskiwin, on Saturday, November 6, when James Barton Jefferson of Rimby, was united by marriage with Minnie Bunker, of Knob Hill. The officiating minister was the Rev. A. L. Elliott.

Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson left by motor car for their home at Rimby and carry with them the best wishes of their many friends.

WHEAT POOL WILL CONSIDER TAKING COAST ELEVATOR

The acceptance or otherwise by the Alberta wheat pool of the offer made by the Vancouver harbor commissioners to rent the pool one of the Vancouver government elevators, will be made this month at a meeting of the directors, according to George H. McVie, western sales manager of the Canada pool, who returned recently from an extensive trip to the Pacific coast.

The Vancouver board offered to recommend to the Canadian government that the lease of the elevator be given to the Alberta pool, and set a time limit of one month to accept. The directors will meet within that time.

With the Alberta pool in control of that elevator, they will have their own facilities at the coast for storing more than 2,000,000 bushels of grain. The Vancouver elevator has a capacity of 1,800,000 bushels, and the one at Prince Rupert, also controlled by the pool, has a capacity of 1,250,000 bushels. Objection by private interests to a lease of the Vancouver elevator being given to the pool, has been quoted by the fact that so far this year only 20 per cent of the total grain going to Vancouver has been consigned to the public elevators.

Mr. McVie reports everything in fine working order at Prince Rupert. Two ships, the first to load wheat at Prince Rupert, have carried 600,000 bushels of wheat to Europe, and another ship is loading 800,000 bushels now.

THRASHING AGAIN DELAYED BY RAIN

(Special to The Times)

Winnipeg, Nov. 6, 1926.—Rain and snow delayed resumption of thrashing during the week in all but the southern districts of Saskatchewan, and old spots in Manitoba, according to the weekly crop and weather report of the agricultural department of the Canadian Pacific Railway. It is expected that if weather conditions remain favorable over the week end that thrashing will be general everywhere by Monday next. Good progress was made with thrashing in Alberta, work being carried on all week without interruption, and under favorable weather conditions. At the present time 90 to 95 per cent of the Manitoba crop is thrashed, 95 to 100 per cent of the Saskatchewan crop and 95 to 100 per cent of the Alberta crop. One week's good weather would see the thrashing cleaned up in all the prairie provinces. In many cases farmers have been able to continue plowing when unable to go on with their thrashing, with the result that the work being advanced with this work. Taking the prairie provinces over, however, thirty per cent of plowing in Manitoba is done, 40 to 45 per cent in Saskatchewan, and 30 to 35 per cent in Alberta. The oat crop throughout the west is relatively poor, the wheat crop, and the numerous districts it will be necessary to import a considerable quantity of both feed and seed before next spring, but on the whole there is sufficient rough feed. This winter the western provinces are going into the winter with all abundance of soil moisture, which will remain in the ground until the crop takes it out next spring and summer. There is plenty of pasture for both horses and cattle in the stubble fields, and live stock generally are going into winter quarters in good condition.

In the Edmonton and British Columbia railway territory, yields of all grains are heavier than last year, the greater proportion of the wheat being shipped grading number two and some of it number one. 95 to 100 per cent of the thrashing is done and 50 per cent of fall plowing.

FUTURE FURNITURE SUPPLY

Paul Krause, of Red Deer, has some oak trees, eight feet high, which he raised from acorns, planted in the open. He also has some smaller ones raised from acorns planted under the snow last December with the hope of their coming to maturity.

These experiments show the scope of horticulture in Alberta. If the seedling is properly done—Stettler Independent.

WETASKIWIN DIST. TEACHERS MET IN CONVENTION

Large Gathering and Good Addresses by Prominent Educationalists

About 120 teachers assembled for the annual convention of the teachers of the Wetskiwin inspectors in the Alexandra school on Thursday and Friday, November 4th and 5th.

On Thursday morning registration took place from 9 to 10 o'clock, when the convention proper opened, with Mr. R. Stevens in the chair. Mr. J. E. Fraser, on behalf of the city council, and Mr. C. Smith, chairman of the separate school board, welcomed the teachers to the city. Mr. Measles, of Millet, replied for the visitors.

Mr. Waite, president of the Alberta Teachers' Alliance, gave a brief outline of the organization and purpose of the association. He also reported on the Canadian Teachers' Federation, held in Charlotteville, P.E.I., to which he was a delegate this year.

On Thursday afternoon, the children of the Hobbema boarding school delighted the teachers with choruses and selections on the music of the school.

Mr. G. P. McNally, supervisor of schools, gave an instructive address on the teaching of spelling. Mr. McNally gave reasons for poor spelling. He suggested methods to conserve the time of the pupils, and to obtain most results in the teaching of this subject.

The teachers then broke up into groups and enjoyed the following program: Junior Section—1. How the First Reader should be taught, Miss M. Kallio. 2. The Proper Standard of Efficiency in the Fundamental Operations and the Method of Arriving at It, Mrs. Freeman.

Senior Section—1. Silent Reading and what should be done about it, Mrs. Mann. 2. Making the teaching of Arithmetic practical, Mr. H. Laycock. High School Section—1. Why so many students fail in Grade IX, Mr. Murray and Mr. McGuire. 2. What is expected in the new course in Physical Training and how it should be handled in the smaller high schools, by Mr. G. P. McNally.

In the evening a banquet was held in the Elks' hall. A short program followed, consisting of these nights: Piano Solo—Mr. L. D. Wright. Reading—Miss W. Lawson. Vocal Solo—Mr. C. Jacobs.

Mr. McNally was the speaker of the evening and addressed the teachers in a most interesting manner on "Community Co-operation with the School."

An informal dance brought the session to a close for the first day.

On Friday morning, the program opened with an address on "Vitalizing the Teaching of Geography" by Mr. M. J. Hilton, of the Edmonton technical school. Mr. Hilton spoke from a fund of facts and experience, which filled the teachers with inspiration.

"Facts from the Field" was the topic of Mr. E. L. Fuller's address. Helpful suggestions were given by the teachers, and the method of grading teachers by inspectors was fully outlined.

A short business session closed the convention. Reports of committees were given and the following officers were elected for the following year: Hon. President—Mr. E. L. Fuller. Vice President—Mr. N. James. Secretary—Mrs. M. P. Dancy. Treasurer—Mrs. G. W. Gilmour.

Executive committee—Inspector of schools and the staff of the Wetskiwin schools.

$50,000 IN BOOTLEGGING

Chicago, Nov. 6.—How a convict released from prison virtually penniless amassed a fortune of $50,000 by using aeroplanes in the bootlegging business and operated 45 breweries, was disclosed here last night, following the indictment yesterday of eight men charged with prohibition violations. The transportation by aeroplane of liquor and stocks prevented hi-jackers from robbing the firm.

Frank G. Parker is said by federal agents to have amassed more than $50,000 by aeroplane bootlegging since he was released from the Joliet penitentiary five years ago. His eight employees were also named in the indictments which resulted from raid on 5000 gallons of beer and $100,000 worth of distillery equipment were seized in a brewery alleged to be owned by Parker. Parker was imprisoned for participating in an automobile theft.

BEAU GESTE

By PERCIVAL CHRISTOPHER WREN

The three Geste brothers, John, Digby and Michael are inseparable in their youth, Michael, or "Beau" is the leader. They live with their aunt, Lady Brandon, in England, who owns the "Blue Water," a valuable sapphire. One evening, Lady Brandon, the Countess, Claudia, Isobel, Michael, Digby, Augustus Brandon and John were together and someone suggests a look at the precious gem. Lady Brandon brings it out, and they were looking at it when all the lights went out and when they were turned on again the sapphire had disappeared. Everyone exchanged all knowledge of its disappearance.

Was this a trap, a trick of Lady Brandon's to catch the guilty one? Justly or unjustly, I thought she was quite capable of it.

If so, presumably I was caught in this underhanded trap that no other should have admired. I was reminded of the occasion many years before, when she suddenly entered the school room and said "The

Was Very Nervous

Mrs. M. A. Gagnon, Donatville, Alta., writes:—"I am sending you this letter to let you know the good I have found in your medicine. Some time ago I was very nervous, could not sleep at night, often had dizzy spells and palpitation of the heart, and was so run down I could not do my housework, but just leave everything and sit down. I spent a lot of money using medicine from the doctor, but it did not do me any good. At last a friend told me to use and after using a couple of boxes I was up and the same again. I began to feel so much better, and after a few more boxes I was in perfect health. I always recommend them to all those I know who are suffering from heart trouble. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have been on the market for the past 32 years. Price 5c, a box at all druggists or dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

naughty child that has been in the still-room has got jam on its chin." and my innocent and foolish hand promptly went up to my face to see if, by some wild coincidence, it was jammy.

Well—the best thing to do now was to fade swiftly and silently away to the trap closed; and I turned, wondering whether Aunt Patricia were watching.

That was an absurd idea, of course. Then I wondered if the box contained some scent of indelible odor, which would betray the guilty hand that had come in contact with it.

Equally absurd. As I crossed the hall, I also thought of fingerprints.

I had she polished the lid and front of the box with the intention of having it examined by experts for the identification of the owner of the fingerprints that touched it during the night? Less absurd, perhaps, but utterly improbable. Such an idea might have occurred to her had it been certain that the "Blue Water" was really stolen by a thief who had meant to get away with it.

And supposing that were really the case, and the jewel were not replaced during the night?

There were my fingerprints, anyhow. If she had really thought of this plan. And there they were if it occurred to her later, in the event of the sapphire not being restored. I reconsidered the central half not more than half a minute later than I had left it—and saw someone coming toward me. He, or she, carried no light, and, of course, could identify me, the candle being just in front of my face.

"Well, Gussie," said I. "Cold morning."

"Well, John, looking for the key?" said the voice of my brother Michael.

"Yes, Beau," I answered. "It's not there."

"No, John," said Michael quietly. "It's here," and he held it out toward me.

"Beau!" I said miserably.

"John!" he nudged me.

A wave of sick disgust passed over me. What had come over my splendid brother?

"Good night," I said, turning away.

"Or morning," replied Michael, and with a short laugh, he went into the outer hall.

I heard him strike a match and there followed the rattle of the key and the clang of a falling lid. He had evidently thrown the key carelessly into the box and dropped the lid without any attempt at avoiding noise.

I went back to bed, and, the affair being over and the mystery solved, fell into a broken sleep.

I was awakened at the usual time by David, the under-footman, with my hot water.

"Half-past seven, sir," said he; "a fine morning when the mist clears."

"Thank you, David," I replied, and sat up.

What was wrong? Of course—the whole affair of last night, and Michael's heavy fall from his pedestal. Well, there are spots on the sun, and no man is always himself. Why dwell on one fault rather than on a hundred virtues? But it was unlike Michael to tell such silly pointless lies to cover a silly pointless trick.

I dressed and went downstairs, taking a maul and a ball from the glory-hole. I would do a few approach shots from the tennis courts to the paddock and back, before the breakfast bell went at half-past eight.

Crossing the rose garden, I ran into Claudia. This surprised me, as she was more noted for being the last arrival at breakfast than for early rising. It struck me that she looked really and worried, and she was certainly deep in some unpleasant slough of thought when she saw me.

As she did so, her face cleared and brightened, rather too suddenly and artificially, I thought.

"Hello, early worm," said she.

"Hello, early bird," I replied.

"What's up?"

"What do you mean?" asked Claudia.

"I thought you looked a bit off color at the tennis courts, and strove in vain to smite it. I scooped generous areas of turf from the lawn, sliced it into a bowl, and threw my club after it, and slouched off, my hands deep in my pockets and anger (with Michael) deep in my soul."

Returning to the house, I saw Thurdon crossing the hall, the long-stick in his hand. The brass bell leered at me cynically as I passed.

Having washed my hands in the lavatory by the glory hole, I went into the dining room.

The fire was blazing merrily, a silver kettle was shimmering on its spirit-stove on the table, a delicious smell came from the sideboard, where three or four covered dishes sat on their metal platform, beneath which burnt spirit lamps. The huge room—with its long windows, looking on two sides to the loveliest view in Devon; its great warm-tinted Turkey carpet hid- ing most of the ancient oak floor; its beautifully appointed table, flooded with sunshine; its panelled walls and arched ceiling—was a picture of solid comfort, established and secure.

Digby was wandering about the room, a plate of porridge in one hand, and a busy spoon in the other. Augustus was at the sideboard, removing cover after cover, and adding sausages to eggs and rashers of bacon.

"Good effort, Gus," said Digby, eyeing the piled mass as he passed with his empty porridge plate. "Shove some kedgeree on top."

"Had it," said Augustus. "This is going on top of the kedgeree."

"Stout effort," approved Digby, getting himself up to his elbows in porridge. Isobel was sitting in her place, and I went to see what I could get for her.

As I stood by her chair she put her left hand up to mine and gave it a squeeze.

"I'll wait for Aunt Patricia, John," she said.

"Aunt come down?" he asked, and added a belated "Morning, everybody."

"No," replied Digby. "Watch me gobble and go. I'm not meeting Aunt till the day's been aired a bit."

"Claudia down yet," enquired Michael, ignoring him.

"I saw her in the garden," I said. "I'll tell her breakfast's ready," he observed, rising and going out.

cases ended in death! So a recent Canadian investigation showed. These were not cases of infectious diseases of consumption—of typhoid! They were cases where a person had sustained some slight injury—a cut, a burn, a wire-prick—and where the wound, being thought not serious enough for careful treatment, had been neglected. Blood-poisoning and death resulted. When you or your children sustain any injury, ensure against infection by applying Zam-Buk. This balm soothes the pain, stops bleeding, and by destroying all germs prevents blood-poisoning, etc. Hence no time need be lost from work or pleasure by those who use Zam-Buk. Create Gas, Sourness and Pain
How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not, as some believe, to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestives and instead get from your druggist a few ounces of Blaudet's Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Blaudet's Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

THE BETHLEHEM OIL AND REFINERIES, LTD.

EDMONTON — ALBERTA

Invest in a Sound Alberta Industry
Managed by Local Men of Proved
Integrity and Ability—

ALBERTA will be one of the greatest oil fields in the world—all authorities agree on this. The Bethlehem Oil in Alberta is now producing $2,000,000 per year to the shareholders.

Refiners in the U.S.A. have paid large dividends and the new process of extracting gasoline will double the profit-making in refining. This new process will be installed in BETHLEHEM OIL AND REFINERIES, LTD.

Petroleum is one of our most valuable natural resources in Alberta, and with the high prices in Canada, a refinery will be a sound, profitable business. The confidence of our position will appeal to the investor who realizes that these pioneer enterprises in industry, based directly upon natural resources, reap the rich reward.

It is well known by most people that whatever business or work they follow, together with the high cost of living, it is almost impossible to lay aside any money for old age. The only remedy for this is to make a good investment.

No other stock in this industry, but the common stock of the Company. All the shareholders share alike in both oil leases and the refinery—a very important point to be considered.

The present offering of shares at $1.00 each will rank the same value as our next issue (the Refinery issue), which the directors have decided will be issued at a much larger price.

DIRECTORS

The first qualification necessary for the success of a company is the men on the directorate, their ability and their standard. The directorate of This Bethlehem Oil and Refineries, Ltd., are men who have made a personal success of their public and private affairs, men whom the public have confidence in; their personal reputation is at stake and they would not solicit your subscription unless they felt you were receiving value.

President and Managing Director
W. K. BELL, Esq., Supt. of Continental Casualty Co. for Alta. and Sask.

COL. GEO. B. McLEOD, Provincial Magistrate for the Province of Alberta.

Engineers: DRISCOLL & KNIGHT, Edmonton, Alberta.

DR. H. B. WOOD, Dentist, Edmonton, Alberta. ALEXANDER HAMILTON, Esq., Merchant, Lac la Biche, Alberta.

THE REFINERY

The Refinery, which will be fitted with the most up-to-date machinery, will be built at Wainwright, Alberta, right in the heart of the drilling. The policy for this is obvious. Transportation is one of the vital points to a refinery. Refining oil and its valuable by-products is well known to be highly profitable. There is nothing speculative about this. It is a sound investment. Vast sums of money are made in the U.S.A. in refining; consider the price of gasoline in Canada compared to Canada. The Company mean to have their own producing wells in order to take every element of profit available for the benefit of the shareholders. Gasoline is a necessity and a luxury. The wheels of commerce would not turn without it. Canada pays today to the U.S.A. and other countries approximately $120,000,000 per annum for petroleum products, which will be kept in Canada in the future.

THE COMPANY

has no conflicting contracts, severe lease or drilling terms. Every lease is paid for and in perfect shape, and every lease can be drilled on. (See Geological report). The lease holders have not been paid any cash for their leases; they have such faith in the company that they consent to their stock being put in escrow with the directors until the success of the Company is assured. The Company has a small capitalization—such a one that dividends can be paid upon.

The drilling is shallow; wells in the Wainwright field have been drilled in 12 days.

Col. Hackness, Commissioner for Oil and Gas to the Ontario Government, in a speech at Edmonton recently, said the possibility in the Wainwright field was very great, and that the field has hardly been scratched as yet.

The financial arrangements are a strong feature of BETHLEHEM OIL & REFINERIES, LTD., a thoughtful and well planned scheme showing that the Company have at the head of their affairs men with a far-seeing vision. The Refinery they plan is to be one after the model of the Lovelock Refinery, Montana, where 25% dividends have been paid to the shareholders from its start.

The directors intend drilling two wells at once in order to furnish a supply of oil necessary to the maintenance of the Refinery. The site for the wells is well defined on the structure the geologists report, and should prove a sure producer.

You should act at once if you wish to take advantage of the present offerings of shares in Bethlehem Oil and Refineries, Ltd., and our bonus that goes with our first issue. We predict that no company in the Wainwright field will make faster progress in getting under way with its operations.

Bethlehem Oil and Refineries, Ltd., embraces every meritorious feature of a successful oil opportunity; good holdings in the Wainwright field; a first class directorate; sound organization with no promotion or watered stock in the Company.

A Foolhardy Policy

When two or more women get together and start swapping shopping yarns and experiences, a mere man is almost sure to get an earful by "listening in." And to a newspaper man looking for inspiration a "yarn" is a most desirable thing to absorb. One thing I learned recently while acting as a dummy to a four handed conversation was the fact that the old habit of some hucksters of loading the top of the basket or sack with choice specimens of fruit or vegetables while underneath is hidden culls or windfalls, is still with us. I had thought that modern business taught dealers the folly of adopting such tactics, but it seems not so. One lady marketer told of buying a basket of apples that looked extra choice, only to find that beneath the top layer was hidden culls, fallen and damaged fruit that should not have been offered for sale at all. The "active" for a huckster to so swindle (for I believe it is a swindle) the public is obvious—to get a high price for low grade fruit. But surely they must know the cost of such a policy. As in the case of the apples mentioned above, the lady who found herself "stung" told her friends, and now some know who all the friends didn't tell. Will the purchaser return to this particular dealer to trade again? Will her friends? Not so that you'd notice. More business is lost by palming off an inferior article than would be gained a dozen times over by a few pennies obtained by trickery. I feel safe in saying that few of this type of dealer remain. Present day business methods are built on other lines—courtesy, service and quality goods. It is the steady customer who makes a business plan, and nobody becomes the steady customer of a dealer who will put the best of his stock on the top of a basket with culls underneath and palm them off as A1 goods. It is too much to expect. Sellers are too plentiful for buyers to put up with such underhand practices, and any dealer who by trickery makes a sale is bound to suffer in the end for it. Honesty is the best policy, and, thank goodness, the great majority of merchants and dealers know it and adopt it as their business motto.—Bx.

WEARINESS

The sun is sinking in the west, where it has always sunk, and now I sit me down to rest, for I am feeling punk. The grievous labors of the day have left me weak and worn, my native pen has cooled away, my penaments are torn. For digging potholes in the sun is hard on ancient gains, and when the dreary way is done, they feel like twenty cents. I am too tired to go to town to see the movie show, or hear a speaker of renown discuss things con and pro. I am too tired to read a tome or wind the phonograph, or gossip with the folks at home, or sing or cuss or laugh. I just laze my easy chair, and close my eyes and think of my nice bed up yonder still, with mattress green and pink, in half an hour or maybe more, to bed I shall parade, and passers-by may hear me snore like tractors on a grade. No draggish's potion will I need to bring the rest, foggy nap, no aspirin or lotus seed, or poppy's deadly sap. No Dover's powders do I keep, no ether or other stuff, my weary bones insure the sleep through which no nightmares lope. Oh, gallant gains and ladies fair who view this night with dread, when you seek slumber in despair, and toss around in bed! Go forth and labor till you're tired, so tired you stand aghast, and then the slumber, much desired, will come along at last.—Walt Mason.

It is reported that Teddy, a police dog, owned by Charles Murray, of Long Island City, has established an unofficial record for high jumping by clearing a barricade which was 11 feet 4 inches high. Just as well not to encourage dogs of that kind, however, for we don't want to build 12 foot fences.

ARTICLE No. 2

In a preceding article, reference was made to a player in Chicago holding thirteen of a suit and the statement was made that such a hand would be held only once in about one hundred and fifty billion hands. The law of averages, however, seems to have been applied somewhere for another such hand—thirteen diamonds, this time—was held in Chicago, July 19, 1925, and is authenticated by affidavit. Why the law of averages seems to slip only in Chicago is still a mystery, but slip it does and that means that the rest of us will have to keep on holding stupid hands for many years before another player gets even a chance of holding thirteen of a suit again. The incident is not only noteworthy because of holding such a hand but also because of the fact that the holder of the thirteen diamonds did not win the final declaration. Here are the hands of all four players:

Hearts—A, 10, 8, 7, 6
Clubs—A, Q, 8, 7, 6, 5
Diamonds—none
Spades—10, 4

Hearts—K, 9, 5, 4, 2
Clubs—J, 10, 9, 5, 2
Diamonds—A, Q, 8, 7, 6, 5
Spades—9, 6, 2

Hearts—Q, J, 3
Clubs—K, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3
Diamonds—none
Spades—A, K, Q, J, 8, 7, 5, 3

(dealer)
Hearts—none
Clubs—none
Diamonds—A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2
Spades—none

The dealer, Mr. John Donahoe, bid one diamond. A bid one heart, Y passed and B bid one spade. From then on B and Z bid up the hand until Z bid seven diamonds and B overbid with seven spades, even though his partner, A, had doubled both the six and seven diamond bid. Z opened the king of diamonds and if B had trumped in A's hand with the ten of spades, discarding the ten of hearts from his own hand, he could have made a grand slam. He was so excited, however, over the bidding, that he discarded a heart from A's hand and trumped in his own hand. As a result he lost his contract by one trick. It really is a most unusual hand and for all auction players to remember. It is authenticated by affidavit so that there is no doubt as to its actual occurrence. Another interesting point in connection with it is whether or not Mr. Donahoe's bid of one diamond was the correct bid. It was either a case of one diamond or seven diamonds. If he had bid seven diamonds, A would undoubtedly have doubled, and it is very questionable whether B would have bid seven spades. If you want to start an argument, ask your friends how they would have bid the hand. It is a close question but the writer is inclined to a bid of one diamond—ac conceals the strength and if forced to a very high bid is more apt to force a double. A bid of seven with such a hand gives too much information. It indicates to the opponents that the bidder has an invincible hand and practically advertises: "Don't double for I can make my bid or if you want to save game, overbid and take a penalty." Think it over and discuss it with your friends.

Answer to Problem No. 1

Hearts—O, 5, 4, 3, 2
Clubs—A, K, 8
Diamonds—A, K, 6
Spades—10, 9

Hearts—A, J, 9, 8, 7

Diamonds—10, 4, 3
Spades—Q, J

Hearts—K, 10
Clubs—J, 10, 9, 4, 3
Diamonds—Q, J, 9, 8
Spades—7, 4, 3

Hearts—6
Clubs—7, 6, 5
Diamonds—7, 5, 2
Spades—A, K, 8, 6, 5, 2

No score, first game. Z dealt and bid one spade. A passed, Y bid one no-trump, B passed and Z bid two spades. All passed and A opened the queen of hearts. He then played the queen of spades. How can Z so play the hand that he can win the balance of the tricks against any defense? Z should win the trick with the king of spades and lead the deuce of diamonds, winning the trick in Y's hand with the king. He should then lead the ten of hearts from Y's hand and trump with the deuce of spades in his own hand. He should lead the ace and eight of spades. On the sixth trick, A cannot discard a heart, for if he does, Z can set up Y's heart suit. A is forced, therefore, to discard either a diamond or a club. It makes no difference which he does for Y must discard the same suit that A does. Suppose that A discards the deuce of clubs at trick six. Y should discard the eight of clubs and B follow suit. Z should now lead the five of clubs, the suit A discarded, winning the trick in Y's hand with the king of clubs. Y should now lead the ace of clubs and follow with the queen of hearts. B should discard the nine of diamonds and Z the five of diamonds. Y should then lead the four of hearts. B should discard the ten of clubs and Z should trump with the five of spades. Z should now lead the six of spades. A cannot discard a heart for if he does, Y will discard a diamond and his heart is good. A must, therefore, discard the four of diamonds. Y should discard the four of clubs. B is now up against the discard. If he discards the back of diamonds, both of Y's diamonds are good. If he discards the ace of clubs, Z's seven of clubs is good. In either event, therefore, Y-Z must win the balance of the tricks. As an interesting variation, have A discard the ten of diamonds at trick six instead of the deuce of clubs. It is a close little problem and should be carefully analyzed.

FARMERS NOT PLEASSED WITH LOAN MEASURE

Winnipeg, Nov. 6.—The long term loan bill passed by the House of Commons and amended by the Senate at the last session of parliament, but which failed to become law owing to its not having received royal assent, was described as in no sense a solution of the problem at the time, unacceptable to the Canadian Council of Agriculture, at a meeting of representatives of the council, held at the offices of the United Grain Growers yesterday. Recommendations along the lines of those proposed by the council prior to the introduction of the bill in the house of commons was unanimously adopted. The council also decided to send a representative to Ottawa to appear before the tariff commission for the purpose of opposing the application of the steel companies for increases in the tariff.

PIECES THAT WE SPOKE IN SCHOOL

(By Caroline E. Vose)

When I was a little girl all children in our village spoke pieces. We spoke in school on Friday afternoons, we spoke them on the last day of school, we spoke them at Sunday school concerts, at Christmas and Easter and at most other village entertainments. In fact, speaking pieces was one of the delights of my childhood. I was very fond, oh, so fond, for the audience was always made up of friends and neighbors, and then, best of all, mother was always smiling encouragingly at me. She would say beforehand, "Don't worry, dear, you won't forget" and knowing whatever mother told me was true, I was sure I wouldn't forget.

Longfellow's poems were favorites of mine. Being a little New England girl I never thought of sniffling at the tucked in or tucked on moral. Instead, I revelled in it. Indeed, the best part of "The Village Blacksmith" to my smug little mind were the words:

Thanks, thanks to thee, my worthy friend,
For the lesson thou hast taught,
Thus at the flaming forge of life
Our fortunes must be wrought;
Thus on its sounding anvil shaped
Each burning desire and thought!
"A Psalm of Life" (for an especial inspiration). Thoroughly convinced by it that "Life is not an empty dream," but that "Life is real! Life is earnest!" I was eager to pass on this information to others less enlightened. Although I lived on the coast it did not appear to me that the

Here and There

Lethbridge—Ready made irrigated district has surely broken all wheat records with a yield of 72 bushels of Turkey Red winter wheat to the acre on a 37 acre field. This unusual feat was achieved on the farm of Armour and Brimble.

Honey from Ontario, in competition with exhibits from all parts of the world, was awarded first and second prizes at the British Dairy Show held recently in London, England, according to a cable received by the Ontario Honey Producers' Co-operative Ltd.

Vancouver—A giant merger of timber interests in British Columbia, Washington and Oregon, involving $400,000,000 of capital, is likely to emanate from plans now under way, according to "The Daily Province." Several of the British Columbia mills—a quarter or a third of the whole—are said to be favorably inclined to the amalgamation.

Montreal—Despite the lateness of the season new immigration to Canada continues at quite an active rate. Week-end arrivals at the Canadian Pacific Steamships "Montclair," "Montcalm" and "Minnelota" discharged approximately 1,250 third class passengers to be added to Canada's population. Included in the new arrivals was the first contingent of British youth to come out to Alberta under the extension of the Hoadley scheme.

Manitoba's tourist traffic for the 1926 season left over $7,000,000 in the province, according to the Winnipeg Tourist and Convention Bureau. From the United States a total of 105,710 visitors came into the province of which number 75,012 stayed for a day while 30,698 remained for a longer time. The average stay of the latter was 3 1/2 days. The increase of cars entering the province over those of the previous year was approximately 45 per cent.

In order that a more intimate knowledge of the Canadian Pacific Railway shipping terminals in the vicinity of Montreal might be gained, over 150 traffic representatives of the various industrial concerns in the district were the guests of the C.P.R. in a recent tour of the various terminals. West Montreal, Adirondack Junction, Mile End, East End, cattle markets, Angus Shops, Hochelaga and Place Viger were among the terminals inspected by the manufacturers.

The S.S. "Emperor of Portland" now undergoing overhauling at the Vicker's Yards in Montreal, will be re-named the "Nooka" and placed in the British Columbia Coastal Service, according to C. D. Neroutos, assistant manager of the Service. The vessel will sail for St. John's, Newfoundland, and thence to Sydney, C.B., where she will load with 2,500 tons of steel and proceed to Vancouver via the Panama Canal. This will be the first trip of the "Nooka" under Canadian Pacific ownership.

An optimistic forecast for the future of Poland was made recently by Gerrard Hyna, representative of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company at Lemberg, Poland, who was interviewed in Montreal recently after completing an extensive tour of the Dominion and part of the western United States. Mr. Hyna stated that he was impressed with the evident prosperity of the Polish immigrant settlers he had visited near Edmonton. The acute problem in Poland today was over-population, informed the European representative.

"Footprints on the sands of time," would probably be effaced before any "torment and shipwrecked brother" could possibly see them and take heart again. I am glad now that it did not.

As for "The Wreck of the Hesperus" I shivered when I repeated it, and yet I enjoyed shivering. This tale of the reef of Norman's Woe possessed a strange fascination for me.

The evening I recited "Curfew must not ring tonight" at a village entertainment remains clearly in my memory. For some reason I was particularly excited. I could scarcely stand still to have my hair combed—it had been wet and left braided tightly all night and all day to make it crimp (what a bother straight hair is anyway) and I could hardly wait to have my plain little muslin dress fastened.

I kept saying, "I know we'll be late. I'm second on the program. Please, please, mother, hurry!" Of course I wasn't late, but reached the hall—the Hall was the scene of all the Well Harbor social activities—just as the big brass kerosene lamps were being lighted. There, while I was waiting impatiently for the audience to assemble, and later for Dilly Colwell to finish his piece, I went over and over my lines. Finally, when my turn really came I was as determined as Bessie that that curfew should not ring that night, and I swung with her out, for out I till the city seemed a tiny speck below. Even now I find it hard to realize that I must have appeared to the spectators merely a thin, serious faced abnormally crimped haired little girl standing stiff and straight on a bare stage speaking in a shrill treble voice instead of a fearless, inspired young woman bent on saving Basil Underwood's life at any cost.

"The Sale of the Pet Lamb" is a long poem which always brought tears to my eyes. That is one reason I disliked to give it in school on a Friday afternoon, for I hated to cry in front of the other children. Still, who could help sympathizing with the heartbroken brothers and sisters in the story whose pet lamb was ruthlessly sold!

"Skipper Ireson's Bride." "The Night before Christmas" and "Marco Bozzaris" were in my repertoire as was "The Pied Piper of Hamelin" which always impressed me as a thrilling tale, familiarly with which never bred contempt. Why, with the name of Caroline Eliza I should have taken such joy in declaiming:

Father calls me William, Sister calls me Bill;
Mother calls me Willie, but fathers call me Bill!

I do not understand, but such was the case.
"Maad Muller," perhaps on account of its philosophy
For of all words of tongue or pen
The saddest are these: "It might have been!"

"The Wreck of the Hesperus" for its vivid picture of the ship's falling into pieces a completely and satisfactorily told a story of an enduring alarm. "The Lost Chord" I learned and infused on the public when I was very small and although I have not seen the text for twenty years or more, I remember it perfectly. I shall never forget the jolt I received when I read a slipper parody on it. To read a slipper parody on it dealing with the loss of a golf ball. To have my childish favorite thus parodied as positively sacrilegious.

My most beloved piece, however, was one telling of a field daisy, which I recited at a Sunday school concert—why the name concert I cannot say. Fortunately, it was in the daisy season, and I gathered quantities of these flowers, which mother made into a large garland. This I proudly wore around my neck. Holding one large daisy in my warm little hand and I swung with her out, for out I stepped upon the red carpeted church platform with my many short starched skirts holding my white muslin dress almost straight out, and began—all the time realizing that horrid sister Sue, who had insisted on singing it, was looking mischievously at me—

A ring of snow with a heart of gold
A daisy peeped from a bottle old.
I went on to describe the daisy's bridging a bit of cheer into a dark room to a child "worn with disease, yet full of grace." The word "worn" I liked because it was not part of my every day vocabulary, and also "ween" in the lines:

And the poor must pay for a ray of light
Though that, I ween, is theirs by right.
As I bowed and went back to my mother, who smiled and gently squeezed my hand, I felt I had reflected great glory upon myself and the Vose family, and even Sister Sue did not tell me till a long time afterward that I had swayed slightly back and forth, and yes, that I had sung-sung it.

Extraordinary wear in all types of Life-Buoy Rubber Footwear is guaranteed by the new Kaufman High-Pressure, Low-temperature Process.

This new method of treating rubber footwear retains the natural elasticity and durability of rubber which under old methods were ruined by excessive heat.

A specially woven fabric is used as the base of all Life-Buoy Rubber Footwear, every fibre of which is permeated and impregnated with purest fluid rubber. Result: a moisture-proof, snag-proof, non-rotting base for the high-grade Kaufman-cured rubber surface.

Life-Buys cost no more and the additional miles of wear in each pair make them much more economical.

Don't take something "just as good"; insist upon Life-Buys and be sure of rubber footwear made by the new exclusive High-pressure, Low-temperature process.

BEAU GESTE

"Take her a kidney on a fork," shouted Digby, as the door closed. We sat down, and conversation was in abeyance for a few minutes in favor of the business of breakfast.

"I suppose the crown jewels are all present and correct by now?" said Digby suddenly, raising what was upmost in all our thoughts. "Door's still locked. I tried it."

"Of course it's all right," I said. "Seen it?" asked Augustus.

"Or was it too dark," he added with a sneer.

"No—I haven't seen it," I replied. "But, of course, it's there all right."

"You should know, of course," said Augustus.

"Shut it, Ghostly," said Digby, "or I'll have your breakfast back."

"You're a coarse loud, Digby," remarked Augustus calmly.

"Streuth!" murmured Digby to the world in general. "Isn't the gentleman's courage coming on?"

It struck me that it was. I had never known Augustus so daring, so assured and insolent before. I felt more convinced that, as Michael had said, nothing but genuine injured innocence and a sense of injustice could have wrought this change.

The door opened, and Claudia, followed by Michael, entered. She looked very white and Michael very wooden and bovine. I saw Isobel give her a sharp glance as she sat down and said:

"Morning. Aunt not been down yet?"

"No, no. Gobble and go. If asked about sapphires, say you don't know," chanted Digby, beating time with a spoon on his cup.

Michael foraged at the sideboard for Claudia, and then went to the coffee-table. I watched his face as he took the coffee pot and milk jug from their tray and held them poised one in each hand, over the cup. His face was perfectly inscrutable and his hands absolutely steady—but I knew there was something very wrong.

He looked up and saw me watching him.

"Morning, bun-face," quoth he. "Sleep well?"

"Except for one unpleasant dream, Beau," I replied.

"It'm," said Michael, and I tried to analyze the sound, but found it as non-committal as his face.

He returned to his place beside Claudia, and as he seated himself, Aunt Patricia entered the room.

We rose, and I drew back her chair and then we stood petrified in a complete silence.

One look at her face was sufficient, as she stopped halfway from the door. I knew before she spoke almost the words she was going to say.

"I have come to request that none of you—none of you—leave the house today," she said. "Unless, that is, one of you cares to say, even now at the eleventh hour, 'A fool and a liar I am, but a criminal I am not.'"

No one spoke, and he looked at me.

"No," continued Lady Brandon. Very well. But please understand that if I go out of this room without the 'Blue Water' I will have no mercy. The thief shall pay a thief's penalty—wherever it may be."

She paused and fixed her cold, angry gaze on me, on Augustus on Michael, on Digby, on Isobel, on Claudia.

No one spoke or moved, and for a full minute Lady Brandon waited.

"Ah!" said she at last, and then, "One other thing, please note very carefully. The servants know nothing of this, and they are to know nothing. We will keep it to ourselves—as long as possible, of course—that one of you six is a treacherous, ungrateful lying thief."

And then Michael spoke.

"Say, one of us four, please, Aunt Patricia."

"Thank you," Michael, she replied cuttingly. "You four are among the six."

"And I will apply to you when I need the help of your wisdom in choosing my words."

"I think you might say 'one of you three brothers,'" Augustus had the audacity to remark.

"Hold your miserable tongue," was Lady Brandon's discouraging reply.

"As I was saying," she continued, "the servants are to know nothing—and neither is anybody else. Until, of course, the police court reporters have the story, and the newspapers are adorned with the portrait of one of your faces."

Once again her scornful glance swept us in turn, this time beginning

GOOD SUGAR BEET CROP

Alberta sugar is being turned out at the rate of 100 tons daily at the Raymond plant in the south country. One thousand tons of sugar beets are required each year. The yield has been very good this year and an average of over 10 tons of beets an acre has been harvested. It is estimated that 60 per cent of the beets have been lifted and the whole crop will be in by the last of this week.

An old cherry tree on the farm of Ira C. Moyer, near Vineland, produced 109 six-quart baskets of sweet cherries last season. Cherries, peaches, pears, plums, apples, grapes and other fruits yielded good crops this year throughout this section of Ontario.

with Michael and going on to Augustus.

"Very well then," she went on. "No one leaves this house, and no one breathes a word of this to anyone but the eight people who already know of it."

"Except to a detective of the police, of course," she added with an ominous note and a disdained edge to her voice. "The Chaplain is ill," she concluded, "and I don't wonder at it."

She turned and walked to the door. Before opening it, she turned to face us once again.

"Have you anything to say—Michael?" she asked.

"Leave the girl's cut of it—and Augustus," he replied.

"Have you anything to say, Digby?"

"No Aunt, awful sorry and all that—"

—replied Digby, and I seemed to see his lips forming the words, "No, no. Gobble and go."

"John?" and she looked even more disdainful, I thought.

"No, Aunt—except that I agree with Michael, very strongly," I answered.

"Augustus?"

"It's a damned shame—" blustered Augustus.

"Very helpful," Lady Brandon cut him short with cruel contempt.

"Claudia?"

"No, Aunt."

"Isobel?"

"No, Aunt," answered Isobel. "But, please, please wait another day and—"

"And give the thief time to dispose of it. We're going to say?" interrupted Aunt Patricia.

She opened the door.

"Then that is all, is it?" she asked.

"No one has anything to say? Very well!" and she went out, closing the door quietly behind her.

"I hate skilky and picking oakum, don't you, Ghostly?" remarked Digby conversationally, as we stared at each other in utter consternation.

"You foul, filthy, utter cads," spluttered Augustus, looking from Digby to me and then to Michael.

"Cut us in, Gus. Shut it," said Michael, in a perfectly friendly voice, and, added, "Run along and play if you can't be serious. Come with me, John, and turning to the girls, said, 'Do me a favor, Queen Claudia and Faithful Hand.'"

"Of course," said Isobel.

"What is it?" asked Claudia.

"Put this wretched business out of both your minds, by means of my absolute assurance and solemn promise that it will be settled and cleared up today."

"How?" asked Claudia.

"Oh, Michael, dear!" said Isobel and glanced at me.

"Never mind how, for the minute, Claudia," replied Michael. "Just believe and rest assured. Before you go to bed tonight, everything will be as clear as crystal."

"Or as blue as sapphire," said Digby.

"Come John," said Michael.

I followed my brother out into the hall. He led the way to his room.

"Take a pew, Johnny. I would hold converse with thee on certain dark matters," he said as we entered.

Having looked the door, he put his tobacco jar on the low table beside the low armchair in which I was sitting.

He seated himself opposite to me and scratched himself with his knuckle behind his head.

"Well, son, what about it?" he said suddenly.

"Yes, what about it, Beau?" I replied.

"What's the game, should you think, Johnny?" he asked.

"That's what I want to know, I answered. "It seems a damned silly one, anyhow."

"Quite," agreed Michael. "Quite very. Very quiet. And a little rough on the girls and our good Augustus."

"Exactly," said I. "And on Aunt Patricia."

An uncomfortable silence followed.

"Well!" said Michael, at length.

"Oh, put it back, Beau," I implored.

"God alone knows what you are playing at! Do you?"

Michael sat up and stared at me.

"Oh? You say 'Put it back' do you, John?" he said slowly and thoughtfully.

"I do," I replied. "Or look here, Beau. Aunt thinks a lot of you, and devilish little of me. It would be doing her a real kindness not to let her know it was you, after all. Give it here, and I'll—"

I colored a little and felt a fool.

"This grows interesting, Johnny," he went on. "If I go and fetch the 'Blue Water' now, will you take it to Aunt Patricia and say 'Alone I did it. I cannot tell a lie. It is a far better thing that I do—'"

"Then very good, Beau," I grinned. "On condition you tell me what the game was, and why you did such a damned silly thing."

"Thank God the wretched business was going to end—and yet, and yet—"

BIRDS OF WESTERN CANADA

A volume of unusual public interest has just been issued by the Victoria Memorial Museum. This is a copiously illustrated work on the "Birds of Western Canada," by P. A. Taverner, ornithologist. It contains 380 pages of text matter, 315 text figures and 54 colored plates, and is larger and fuller than "The Birds of Eastern Canada," published a few years ago. It contains full descriptive matter for distinguishing the different species of birds, notes on the nesting habits and distribution, and is crammed with interesting and vivid description setting forth the life histories and habits of the feathered creatures. The numerous illustrations are of the kind that illustrate, and many of the colored plates are excellent reproductions of what in their class may be considered master works of art.

This volume should be in every school room of Western Canada. It is one that no student of natural history or bird lover in Canada can afford to be without. It is sold in heavy paper cover at 75c, which can be had on application to the director of the Victoria Memorial Museum, Ottawa.

I felt quite sure that Michael would not let me take the blame.

Michael rose.

"You really will?" he asked. "I go and get it now, you'll take it to Aunt Patricia and say you pinched it for a lark?"

"Only too glad of the chance, Beau," I answered.

"To get the beastly business over and done with and forgotten—and the girls and Gus and Digby out of the silly mess?"

"It'm," said Michael, sitting down. "You would, eh?"

"And might I ask you a question or two, John?" he went on.

"What where you doing with your hand on the glass cover when I put my hand on it last night?"

"Waiting to catch the ass who was returning the 'Blue Water,'" I replied.

"Because I had been twice accused of the fool trick—because I was standing close to the table when the lights failed."

"So you were, too. And what were you doing downstairs in the hall last night?"

"Looking for the key, Beau, as I told you."

"And what did you want the key for?"

"To see whether the sapphire had been put back—and to get some peace of mind and sleep, if it had."

"Did you go into the drawing room?"

"No," I answered.

"Why, not?"

"What need? I took it for granted that you had returned it," replied I.

"Suppose a vote was taken among eight of us, as to who is likeliest to be the thief, who do you suppose would top the poll?"

"Augustus," I replied promptly.

"Do you think he is the culprit?" asked my brother.

"No, I do not."

"Nor I," answered the enigmatic Michael. "In fact, I have bet not."

He sat silent, smacking reflectively for a few minutes.

"Go through the list," he said suddenly. "Would Aunt pinch her own jewel?"

"Finally," said I.

"Would the Chaplain?"

"Still less," said I.

"Would Claudia?" he asked next—almost anxiously, I fancied.

"Don't be a fool," I replied.

"Would Isobel?"

"Don't be a cad," I said.

"Would Digby?"

"Utterly preposterous and absurd," I answered.

"Would Augustus?"

I felt certain that he did not, anyhow, I asserted him.

"Would you?"

"I didn't, as it happens," I answered.

"Would I?"

"I should have thought you about the last person in the world, Beau," I asserted him.

"Looks as though I did it then, doesn't it?" he asked.

"Because as Augustus and Digby and you didn't—"

"I didn't," he said, "as I thought I am the last."

"It does seem a little odd, doesn't it?" he asked.

"Nobody else knows that I and you downstairs," said I, "didn't you put it back?"

"Wish I had," he said.

"There was a song at the door."

Hot Oats — for chilly mornings

Nothing makes you feel so good on a chilly morning as a breakfast of delicious hot oatmeal porridge. And morning hours of heavy work require sustaining food. Quaker Oats is the best cereal for early breakfasts. Active workers find in this nourishing food all the important elements which build bone and brawn, repair worn-out tissue and renew bodily vigor and energy. Delicious too, because all the nut-like flavour of the golden grain is retained in Quaker milling. Quaker Oats, the large flake. ## SONG OF THANKS

I have no song to tell
Of my delight in humble things.
No song that breathes of my content at night
When all the world's beyond my candle light.

This prayer of thanks runs through
my daily task,
I have so much, what more could I
man ask?

This house which welcomes every lonely guest,
This place before the fire where we have brought
Our dreams and hopes, and shared anxieties and loss
Rebuilt our faith above one small green grave of moss.

This prayer which bears the mark of grate feet,
This little son whose arms are grown sweet.

These well-loved shabby chairs and walls book-lined,
This table set with shining silver plates and fragile glass,
This love of life which lets no stranger
pass:

This prayer of thanks runs through
my daily task,
I have so much, what more could I
man ask?

Syrup

Mrs. Bowden J. Murphy, North
Igouah, N.B., writes: "Some time ago I took a severe cold and it settled on my lungs.

I coughed day and night, and had such severe pains in my chest I could hardly bear it.

One day a friend told me to get a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, so I got a bottle and after I had taken a couple of doses my cough seemed to be getting better, so I got the second bottle and after I had used that I was completely rid of my trouble."

No Enemies

You have no enemies, you say?
Alas! my friend, the boat is poor;
He who has mingled in the fray
of duty, that the brave endure,
Must have made foes!
If you have none,
Small is the work that you have done.
You've hit no traitor on the hip,
You've dashed no cup from perjured
lip,
You've never turned the wrong to right,
You've been a coward in the fight.

"I hold it truth, with him who slugs
To one clear harp in diverse tones,
That men may rise on stepping-stones
Of their dead selves to higher things."
—Tennyson.

While the United States comes first in the ratio of motor cars to population, and Hawaii second, Canada stands third in the list, according to the latest analysis of world car distribution, recently published. Afghanistan stands last on the list. The United States has one car for every six inhabitants. Hawaii has one to each 11, and Canada one to every 13. Afghanistan has one car to every 1,120-000 inhabitants. The total motor vehicles in use in the world is placed at 21,539,219, of which 20,337,146 are passenger cars.

An interesting Thanksgiving program was carried out by the scholars of the United church Sunday school on Sunday, the primary and intermediate classes taking part in singing and recitations very creditably.

The chicken dinner served by the ladies of the United church was a decided success, both as to bounty and proceeds, and the Ladies' Aid wish to thank all who so generously helped toward this successful event.

A card party will be held on Friday
November 12th, at the home of Mrs.
W. L. Grey. Five prizes, a quilt and four others, will be given. The party will be under the auspices of the U.
F.W.A.

Bill Slow's stock is all out of date, his business is in an awful state — no trade comes to his store. His rib-advertise would cost just twice as much as he has lost in

INITIATIVE

The world bestows its big prizes, both in money and honors, for but one thing. And that is initiative. What is initiative? I'll tell you. It is doing the right thing without being told. But next to doing the thing without being told is to do it when you are told once. That is to say, carry the message to Garcia; those who can carry a message get high honors, but their pay is not always in proportion. Next, there are those who never do a thing until they are told twice; such get no honors and small pay. Next, there are those who do the thing only when necessity kicks them from behind, and these get no difference instead of honors, and pitance for pay. This kind spends most of its time pushing a bunch with a hard back story. Then, still lower down in the scale than this, we have the fellow who will not do the right thing even when some one goes along to show him how and stays to see that he does it; he is always out of a job, and receives the contempt he deserves, unless he happens to have a rich Pa, in which case they patiently wait around the corner with a staffed club. To which class do you belong?

DO YOU DO YOUR PART?

Are you doing your part in assisting the teaching staff of the public school in getting the best results? Many parents willingly pass to the teachers almost all of the work in the education of their children. Never by any possible chance do they attempt to assist the children with their school work, and worse still, in some cases actually reflect the teachers in the presence of the pupils thereby actually decreasing the influence of the teacher. Often the parent fails to impress upon the children the importance of making the most of every school day, failing to recognize the fact that time wasted in school years, will never return and that the child will suffer from the handicap to the end of his career. Assist the teachers. Strathmore Standard.

W.I. GIRLS' CLUB IS TO BE ORGANIZED

A meeting will be held in the Women's Institute rooms on Tuesday evening, November 10th, at eight o'clock, for the purpose of organizing an Institute Girls' Club. All girls over the age of fifteen are eligible for membership, and sewing, cooking, painting and other subjects will be taught.

Hon. George Hoadley, Minister of Agriculture, is offering a scholarship prize of $250.00 and a course at the Oida Agriculture College to the girl winning the highest marks.

Mrs. Albert Rodell, constituency organizer of the Women's Institute for the Wetaskiwin district will have charge of the meeting.

A CLOSE-UP VIEW

Two sailors on a battleship fought in the ranks. This was a double of faces it combined "fighting" and "disorderly conduct at quarters." The men could have been heavily punished, but as they had good conduct records, their officer decided not to report them, but to try a method of his own.

The two fighters were made to stand face to face for an hour. A guard was set over them to see that they did not move or look away from each other during the long sixty minutes. The two men found that an hour under such circumstances was a long time. To them it seemed interminable. Their glowing faces reflected in spite of themselves. When the hour was up, they were both laughing, shook hands of their own accord and never fought again.

A massacre could hardly have happened among people who were personally acquainted with each other. But the people of Jericho were behind walls and the Jeremiahs under Joshua were outside those walls. Under the conditions nothing was too evil for them to believe of each other. Could they have seen each other's homes, they would probably have been ready to be allies instead of foes to the death.

The League of Nations is doing much for international friendship by providing an opportunity for representatives of various countries to get acquainted with each other. This will make for mutual understanding and sympathy. Much individual and national hatred is based upon ignorance. A close-up view of other people usually reveals that their interests and ambitions are very much the same as our own.

IMMIGRANTS' 23 FARE

London, Nov. 9.—A new agreement continuing the £3 (about $15) fare for British immigrants is being entered into, and it is expected the agreement will be concluded this week.

There are three parties to the agreement, the Overseas Settlement branch of the British government and the transportation companies interested in migration.

The existing agreement for the £3 rate of passage for immigrants to the Dominion expires at the end of this year. The new agreement will modify it in some respects, but its main basis of £3 ocean rate remains.

You would not be ashamed of your stationery if it had been printed at The Times office.

AN ANCIENT ILL

We read how Science has overthrown a hundred ills that made men groan and bow them to the tomb; she chased foul microbes to the lair and put the kibosh on them there, and some plague met its doom. Malaria is out of date, and diphtheria's pulled its freight, the hook worm's graft is done; the savants point with honest pride to ills that have died, to triumphs nobly won. Tuberculosis soon must yield to stern explorers in the field, to scientists of worth; and barber's itch and housemaid's knee their melancholy weird must dress and perish from the earth. But one disease still holds the fort in hut and mansion, camp and court, unshaken, unimpressed, by all the microbes hunter's tricks; its countless victims cross the Styx to gain a well-earned rest. It takes all pleasure from the lives of weeping legends and their wives, tortures human knees; and Science says, while drilling by, "I'll conquer that disease. Just now I'm making league-lump jumps to throw the harpoon in the mumps, to find a bunion cure; until these chores are done, give while the sufferers from rheumatiz must suffer and endure." Through all the ages this disease had prodded, as with sickleweeds, men's ligaments and sinews, has put the harpoon in their brains and filled them with a million pains that burned holes through their shoes. It's filled the world with aching grief, and Science offers no relief that's worth a linker's hoot. "Just wait," she says, "until I'm through with germs that cause the Spanish flu, then rheumatiz must scold." All other ailments must be slain before the carnival of pain abolished for good; the sufferers must wait and weep until, worn out, they go to sleep in overcoats of wood—Wald Mason.

Provincial News Bulletin

Government Operates E.D. & B.C. In an official statement issued last week, Premier Brownlee of Alberta, announces that the government will take over and operate the Edmonton, Dunvegan and B.C. railway, into the Peace River country, commencing November 11. The operating agreement under which the C.P.R. has been operating the road expires on November 10, under the three months' notice given by the government last August. The announcement is made at the same time that a traffic agreement has been signed by the government with the Canadian National Railway, whereby the C.N.R. will handle all traffic from the E.D. & B.C., and for that line, under which agreement the present freight rates now paid by the residents along the line will be continued. The agreement also provides for the use of the Canadian National railway depot and terminals for the trains of both the E.D. & B.C. and the A. & G.W. lines. John Callaghan, deputy minister of railways, is named general manager of the road.

Under the new conditions, the Alberta government is sole owner and operator of the E.D. & B.C. and is in a position at any time to enter negotiations.

tations for an outright sale of the road, should it decide to do so. The latest offer of the C.P.R. for a further lease of the line, made only last week and which was $80,000 better than the last previous offer, was rejected by the government, which was opposed to tying up the line under any further agreement, preferring to remain in a position to be free to negotiate the sale of the road if thought desirable. The premier states in his official announcement that the government has confidence in the railway department's ability to operate the road at an operating profit.
